

Data Protection

Video Transcript

Thank you

[Danielle Kaufmann]: Congratulations! You have arrived at the end of Chapter 1.

[Beat Rudin]: In this chapter, you have learned what aspects of life are affected by data protection. It is often obvious when the protection of data is relevant. However, there are sometimes situations in which it isn't immediately apparent why data protection applies. We also took a closer look at the legal sources that underlie data protection.

[Danielle Kaufmann]: You will have understood that data protection law only applies when personal data is being processed. But also that a lack of data protection is often not the result of bad intention, but often due to negligence or lack of knowledge.

[Beat Rudin]: We are already looking forward to taking a closer look at the principles of data processing with you in the next chapter.
