

Gender and Labour in the Global South

Video Transcript

Thank you and goodbye!

CHRISTINE BIGLER: Our course has come to an end and it is time to say goodbye. The main goal of the course was to discuss the labour market in the Global South from a gender perspective. We hope that the contents covered in these weeks have been useful to each and every one of you. We also hope that through these contributions of this course, you have been able to broaden your knowledge and perspectives on the centrality of gender in the labour market. The gender perspective is important for sustainable development. Thank you very much for your participation and commitment!

SONY KC: I thank you all for participating in this course and hope we will get to develop similar courses in the future. Whatever stories we have from Nepal, we would be happy to share them in the near future. Thank you very much!

BOUNSENG KHAMMOUNTY: Thank you for your participation and goodbye!

CHRISTINE BIGLER: Thank you for your contributions and take care!